YOUR WEDDING DAY LASTS A DAY - YOUR WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHS LAST FOREVER

ABOUT OURSELVES

Since 1974, we have established ourselves as one of Scotland's leading wedding photographers and along the way have won some prestigious awards. We pride ourselves on a friendly and efficient service providing you with wedding photographs you will be proud of.

WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY

A few years ago wedding photography was deemed a necessity, and was, for the majority of people, the only contact they would have with a professional photographer and their photographs conveyed that the experience was more of a chore than something to enjoy.

Now, happily, there seems to be a growing trend of people becoming more image aware and are looking for photographs that are different and special to them. People say they enjoy the experience of being photographed by us and that we take great photos - we say we are exceptionally modest!

YOU'RE THE BOSS

We normally have at least two meetings to discuss your personal requirements. The initial appointment takes place usually months before the actual wedding day. We discuss the content and general feel of the photography you require - e.g. black and white photographs, use of a reportage type style, candid, digital abstracts, classic colour etc - all these different styles are available.

We can also show you examples of our Wedding Albums.

On payment of a deposit of £300 your date is secure. The deposit covers the photographer's attendance and coverage of your wedding.

The second meeting is a few days before the wedding, and it is at this meeting we can finalise all the minute details and timings, so that the photography goes very smoothly. Both meetings are also a good way of building a relationship, with the bride and groom, so we are not strangers on the day.

ON THE DAY

We usually begin photography at the bride's home. It is here that we have time to take some beautiful portraits of the bride, her family and her attendants. We then move to the place of marriage and photograph the groom and his friends and family, after which we wait for the bride's arrival.

Following the ceremony we take group photographs if the location permits. If not, we go to the reception and take the photographs there. We can also visit a quiet location chosen by the bride or groom for some special portraits of themselves - this is important as the photographs can be taken quickly without the many crowd distractions that can easily spoil facial expressions. We then finish with a traditional cake cut or a similar picture and then leave you to enjoy the rest of what will be a very hectic day. This is only a guide as every wedding is different - some couples want coverage throughout the entire day.

AFTER THE DAY

We compile a selection from the day's photography which can be either viewed on contact sheets or on computer in our studio. There are also a growing number of couples who prefer for us to compile an album for them within a certain budget - the finished album being ready for collection two weeks after the wedding. We also have a large selection of frames in our retail area.

SO....

This gives you an idea how we approach wedding photography. Please phone us to arrange an appointment so we can show you more examples of our work and discuss how Aviemore Photographic can make your wedding day last forever.
